Overview of the Text

The book is about preaching, and the title of the book includes 360 degrees. This idea of 360 degree preaching is the most important idea in the book, and I will talk about it later in this paper. But the book talks about different topics regarding preaching. Such as the current times and perspectives on preaching - and thus, the current challenges facing preaching. And a lot is on how preaching should be done. For example, boring and dull preaching should be avoided, and Scriptural Trinitarian preaching should be done more.

I believe the author wrote this book in order to have young people preach better and to understand preaching in all its aspects. He is training the young people to understand what has been already researched in terms of preaching, and how preaching can be done more effectively. He gives advice and theory as to what good preaching is - for example, the Trinity and Scriptural teachings.

Key Points

- 1) The biggest keypoint for me was the 360 idea of preaching. It has a side effect of some benefit to me, actually. This idea of 360 preaching is that God sends out his word, the word is preached, and we give back to God through worship and praise. This is regarding preaching in this book, but the idea is so powerful and can be expounded upon in many different ways. I actually realized that the telos of all my actions should eventually be to worship and praise God. Thus, in my preaching, I should always seek to praise and worship God at every single moment. There should not be a moment when I say, “I don’t need to praise and worship God right now.”

- 2) The Trinity was talked about in the book, and some old ideas about the relationship between each being in the Trinity was talked about. For example, one person said God speaks the word, Jesus is the word, and the Holy Spirit preaches and sends out and accomplishes the Word. I think this is powerful, because in my background of John MacArthur type teaching, the Holy Spirit is not very emphasized. I think that we need to use the Holy Spirit’s power and gift of tongues and prophesying in order to do church and preaching better.

Personal Application

This text affected my ministry and my walk with God because of the 360 degree concept. I never thought that the telos of preaching and all things should be worship and praise. Many atheists and practicalists will say that Christianity is good because of its impact - because its effect is good on society and loving to people and healing. But this idea is that ultimately we need to give back to God.

I realized that I need to use Scripture more often in my sermons. The biggest impact that I heard from the text regarding this was that one Confession says, “The preaching of the Word of God is the Word of God.” This makes preaching such a high task, and that the preacher is actually saying the Word of God when he is expounding and explaining the Bible. It is crucial to listen to sermons not as human words, as Paul said about his own words, but to listen to sermons as the Word of God. We need qualified and very high quality men to preach the word.
