STRATEGIC THINKING

1. Context®

What Is Context?

Perspective and background are important for people with strong Context talents. They value the retrospective viewpoint because they believe that is where the answers lie. They look back to understand the present. From the past, they can discern blueprints for the future. People with dominant Context talents might feel disoriented when they can't see patterns stemming from prior events. Others may become impatient with them as they strive to understand the history of a given situation. But this historical context gives them confidence in their decisions.

Why Your Context Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

ContextBelief*Connectedness*Ideation*Input

Instinctively, you enjoy having opportunities to think with people who reflect on past events. Why? They can relay — that is, pass along — information that helps you put the words and deeds of people in their proper perspective.

Chances are good that you experience a burst of enthusiasm when you meet a newcomer who shares your interest in past events, historic places, and prominent figures of the past. You rarely have difficulty initiating these discussions and keeping them moving. Why? As history buffs — that is, enthusiasts — both of you are eager to ask and answer questions.

By nature, you usually choose to associate with people who value yesteryear's stories, events, feats of daring, and interesting personalities. You demonstrate a need to acquire lots of historic information. This likely leads you to experts who appreciate many of your thought-provoking questions.

Driven by your talents, you are inspired when historians speak of people or events that demonstrate human beings' capacity to survive. You likely are intrigued by individuals who rise above intimidation, distress, fear, or discouragement.

It's very likely that you often seek the company of historically minded people. You typically ask what they think about past events or luminaries — that is, prominent individuals.

How Context Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

CONTEXT + BELIEF

You base your life on core values that have stood the test of time, and you benefit from the wisdom of your spiritual ancestors.

CONTEXT + CONNECTEDNESS

You view the world through a lens that gives you both a holistic global perspective and a historical retrospective.

CONTEXT + IDEATION

You appreciate the past, and you use your historical perspective to fuel innovation that begins a new chapter of history.

CONTEXT + INPUT

With your collection of tangible resources and your recollection of historical facts, you may have exactly what others need.

Apply Your Context to Succeed

- ☐ Find a mentor with an extensive history in your area of interest. Talking with this person and listening to their experiences will likely inspire you and help you prepare for the future.
- ☐ Communicate what the future holds by analyzing past experiences. Your passion for history can give great insights into where you and those around you are going in the future.

EXECUTING

2. Belief®

What Is Belief?

People with strong Belief talents have enduring principles that they live by. These values vary from one person to another, but those with powerful Belief talents have deeply held ideals and a strong sense of purpose in their lives. These core values affect their behavior in many ways. Their sense of mission gives their lives meaning and direction; in their view, success is more than money and prestige. Their Belief talents guide them through temptations and distractions toward a consistent set of priorities. This consistency is the foundation for their relationships. Others view them as dependable and trustworthy.

Why Your Belief Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

ContextBelief*Connectedness*Ideation*Input

It's very likely that you are compelled to admit the truth. If someone asked you or told you to intentionally mislead someone, you would reply, "I cannot and I will not do that!"

Chances are good that you are compelled to help people. You yearn to leave the world in better shape for those who will follow you years, decades, and centuries from now.

Driven by your talents, you have no doubts about being linked in some way with everything in the universe. This includes all creation and all humankind.

Because of your strengths, you realize your core values have served you well over the years. This solid foundation helps you distinguish right from wrong, good from bad, and truths from lies. Your professional, academic, or ethical code of conduct influences you to follow your conscience when people pressure you to do what everyone else is doing.

By nature, you want your life to really matter. You are determined to contribute to the well-being of individuals and the human family. You sense you can be an influence for good in the world.

How Belief Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

BELIEF + CONTEXT

You base your life on core values that have stood the test of time, and you benefit from the wisdom of your spiritual ancestors.

BELIEF + CONNECTEDNESS

While your strong beliefs sometimes separate you from others, you still have a connection with and a compassion for all humanity.

BELIEF + IDEATION

While your values are stable and unlikely to change, they remain fresh and vital when you live them out in new and creative ways.

BELIEF + INPUT

You are faithful in your commitment to your values and resourceful in how you live them out and express them to others in tangible ways.

Apply Your Belief to Succeed

Reflect on your values and how they play a part in your everyday life.

- ☐ Think about your best day to better understand what you like the most about what you do daily. How did your values contribute to the satisfaction you felt that day? What can you do to have more days like your best?
- ☐ Find a cause that matters to you and actively support it. Not just believing in something, but also getting involved, helps to fuel your passion even more.

RELATIONSHIP BUILDING

3. Connectedness®

What Is Connectedness?

Things happen for a reason. Those with strong Connectedness talents are sure of it. They have a powerful conviction that everyone is connected. While each person is responsible for their own judgments and actions, those with strong Connectedness believe everyone is part of something larger. This belief implies certain responsibilities. Their awareness of these responsibilities creates their value system. They are considerate, caring and accepting. Confident in the unity of humankind, they build bridges for people of different cultures. They give others comfort that there is a purpose beyond everyday existence. Their faith is strong. It sustains them and their close friends in the face of life's mysteries.

Why Your Connectedness Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

ContextBelief*Connectedness*Ideation*Input

Chances are good that you might be fascinated with certain ideas, policies, or philosophies that affect human beings around the world.

Driven by your talents, you are genuinely fascinated with the mystery of life. Your capacity to feel good about yourself does not hinge on having logical or rational explanations for everything. You sense you are part of the lives of other individuals and accept they are part of your existence. This outlook on life probably influences what you say or do for people as well as how you care for the environment.

It's very likely that you argue that hard work influences the course of your life more than anything else. You make your own good fortune by preparing yourself to take advantage of opportunities as they arise. Each time you are successful, you can outline exactly what you did to reach a goal. You link together facts, incidents, conversations, or available resources to understand your accomplishments. You resist the notion that life is nothing more than a game of chance.

By nature, you consider people more important than things. The value you place on humankind guides your decision-making. It also influences what you say and do as well as what you choose not to say and do.

Because of your strengths, you sense you are linked to all humanity. You contend that harming another human being eventually harms you. Misusing the environment has personal consequences, you argue. This perspective on life influences your thoughts, actions, decisions, or choices.

How Connectedness Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

CONNECTEDNESS + CONTEXT

You view the world through a lens that gives you both a holistic global perspective and a historical retrospective.

CONNECTEDNESS + BELIEF

While your strong beliefs sometimes separate you from others, you still have a connection with and a compassion for all humanity.

CONNECTEDNESS + IDEATION

You can see the world as it really is, but you are willing and able to view it differently to get a new perspective.

CONNECTEDNESS + INPUT

You assist those who aspire to spiritual health or personal well-being by sharing tangible and helpful resources.

Apply Your Connectedness to Succeed

Help people and groups better understand how to relate to and rely on each other.

- ☐ Offer to listen to and counsel people. You can easily see connections between what they are saying and doing. Help them by providing directions on how to see connection and purpose in everyday occurrences.
- ☐ Support others in finding meaning in the unpredictability of their world. Doing this provides a sense of comfort and stability in the face of uncertainty.

STRATEGIC THINKING

4. Ideation®

What Is Ideation?

People with strong Ideation talents are creative and appreciate originality. They relish free-thinking experiences such as brainstorming and discussion groups. They have a natural capacity to consider issues from multiple perspectives. They revel in taking the world we all know and turning it around so people can view it from a strangely enlightening angle. They think outside the box. They are fascinated by new ideas and concepts, which come to them easily. They love ideas because they can be profound, they can be novel, they can be clarifying, they can be contrary, and they can be bizarre. For all of these reasons, they derive a jolt of energy whenever a new idea occurs to them.

Why Your Ideation Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

ContextBelief*Connectedness*Ideation*Input

Because of your strengths, you often experience satisfaction with your life when someone asks you to scrutinize, assess, examine, or evaluate things such as people, processes, plans, or mechanisms.

Driven by your talents, you repeatedly let people benefit from your sound reasoning and logical assessment of opportunities, problems, regulations, policies, or proposed solutions.

By nature, you are an original and innovative thinker. Others frequently rely on you to generate novel concepts, theories, plans, or solutions. You refuse to be stifled by traditions or trapped by routines. You probably bristle when someone says, "We can't change that. We've always done it this way."

Chances are good that you sometimes use words, terms, or phrases that force people to stop and think in new ways.

It's very likely that you automatically think of new and different ways to do things. Your mind is brimming with ideas. You probably are eager to share them with whoever will listen.

IDEATION + CONNECTEDNESS

You can see the world as it really is, but you are willing and able to view it differently to get a new perspective.

IDEATION + INPUT

You experience great satisfaction when you transform your creative thinking into something tangible and useful.

Apply Your Ideation to Succeed

Look for areas that would benefit from an innovative approach.

- ☐ Spend time with imaginative people discussing and refining your ideas. Together, you can think up new possibilities.
- ☐ Look for different connections and generate new insights when things don't make sense in a certain area. Whereas others might be unsure or unclear about what to do next, you can quickly brainstorm multiple options for consideration.

STRATEGIC THINKING

5. Input®

What Is Input?

People with strong Input talents are inquisitive and always want to know more. They crave information. They might collect ideas, books, memorabilia, quotations or facts. Whatever they collect, they do so because it interests them. They find many things interesting and have a natural curiosity. The world is exciting precisely because of its infinite variety and complexity. A few minutes spent surfing the internet may turn into hours once their curiosity takes off. They constantly acquire, compile and file things away. Their pursuits keep their minds fresh. They know that one day the information or things they've gathered will prove valuable.

Why Your Input Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

ContextBelief*Connectedness*Ideation*Input

Instinctively, you are primarily concerned with facts and reality. Usually you reject whatever is impractical or exists only in someone's imagination. Not surprisingly, you are determined to become proficient in the language of your chosen profession, area of study, or field of interest. You frequently introduce these terms in your speech or writing.

It's very likely that you pay close attention to current events. Numerous people merely recount what they heard, saw, or read. Typically you dive deeper into the topic. You are likely to generate theories, concepts, or philosophies to explain the reasoning behind newsmakers' decisions. You routinely gather information about events, policy statements, people, or crises. Your fresh insights are likely to draw equally engaged thinkers into the conversation.

Chances are good that you fill your mind with new ideas by asking questions, reading, studying, observing, or listening. Normally, you accumulate facts, data, stories, examples, or background information from the people you meet. Determining what they want to accomplish in the coming weeks, months, or years generally satisfies your curiosity. These insights also allow you to understand why individuals behave the way they do in different situations.

By nature, you are willing to spend time sharing your ideas with intelligent individuals. Of course, you want them to tell you their latest thinking. Conversations that involve a lot of questions and answers stimulate your mind. You know you have spent your time wisely when you have a number of new ideas, theories, or concepts to somehow file away or remember for future use.

Because of your strengths, you desire to take in additional facts, data, or background information. These insights probably permit you to assist others whenever the opportunity presents itself.

How Input Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

INPUT + CONTEXT

With your collection of tangible resources and your recollection of historical facts, you may have exactly what others need.

INPUT + BELIEF

You are faithful in your commitment to your values and resourceful in how you live them out and express them to others in tangible ways.

INPUT + CONNECTEDNESS

You assist those who aspire to spiritual health or personal well-being by sharing tangible and helpful resources.

INPUT + IDEATION

You experience great satisfaction when you transform your creative thinking into something tangible and useful.

Apply Your Input to Succeed

Find different ways to gather and organize resources.

- ☐ Develop a system for storing and easily finding information to share with others. This can be as simple as an email folder setup or as sophisticated as a computer database. This system will help you quickly locate information that you can share with others.
- ☐ Meet with people interested in learning about the information you have collected. During your conversation, ask them to help you by taking notes or recording the talk. This could be another way to keep track of your resources.
